

East Borough Juniors Give Play Tonight

EAST STROUDSBURG Junior class presents its class play, "Cheaper By the Dozen" tonight at 8.

The play tells the story of "The Gilbreths," a man and wife who worked as a team doing time studies and efficiency surveys for industries, and their 12 children, eight of whom figure prominently in the plot.

Although the play is noted for its "laugh lines" and humorous situations, it is also an attempt to portray with some truth the actual lives of the persons involved. It is based on the factual story of a family.

When it was first published eight years ago, "Cheaper By the Dozen" was a best-selling book for more than a year. It was later made into an all-star movie with Clifton Webb and Myrna Loy topcast in leading roles.

These two parts will be played tonight by Joan Smith, the mother, and Ronny Anthony, the father. Others in the cast will be Peggy Yost, Nina Burnley, Paul Dellaria, Jean Stine, Bobbi Barrow, Jim Terrell, Kathy Hamilton and Paul Hoffman.

Faculty director of the play is Ralph Bender. It will be given one performance only, tonight, in the Junior High School auditorium. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

Large Group Attends Malta Booster Rally

A PROGRAM of music, talks and readings featured the booster meeting and rally night of the St. John's Commandery, 186, Knights of Malta Tuesday night at Malta Temple.

The song "America the Beautiful" opened the program and was followed by a prayer. Commander William E. Robinson gave the welcome address and portions of the Declaration of Principles of the Knights of Malta was read. The reading was followed by remarks by Past Grand Commander Clifford R. Kintner, assistant recorder.

Rev. Clyde Levergood gave the principal address of the program. The Cherry Valley Methodist Church pastor placed emphasis on the Christian character of the order and suggested five sentences to be placed on the walls of the various rooms.

The Pocono Male Chorus of Stroudsburg offered a number of selections. Howard Siegfried, Easton, supreme commander of America, brought greetings and urged greater cooperation between the order and the church. Similar remarks were made by Grand Commander Clarence Orth, Reading, and Deputy Grand Commanders Willis Rader, Nazareth, and Fred W. Weissner, Reading.

Other visiting officials gave brief talks. The meeting closed with a song and benediction. This was followed by the serving of refreshments and a social hour. Almost

Sportsmen May Request Four More Fishermen's Paradises

Federation Considers Suggestion

HARRISBURG, March 17 (P)—A proposal calling for the establishment of four more fishermen's paradises comes before a convention of Pennsylvania's organized sportsmen this weekend.

The suggestion will be considered during the annual March meeting of the State Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs and if approved would put the group on record in its favor.

Submitted by the federation's northcentral division, the proposed resolution would urge the State Fish Commission to set aside the unspecified parts of the state.

It calls upon the commission to issue a special license to fish in them with the fee to be used for their establishment and maintenance.

Since 1934 the commission has run a premier fishing spot in Centre County along Spring Creek, known as Fishermen's Paradise. No special fee is charged and fishermen can only kill one fish a day and use the paradise a specified number of times a year.

"Such areas could be used as a medium to teach fishermen conservation — if you want to catch more fish and kill less," the resolution states.

It adds that such additional areas "would relieve the pressure from open non-restricted, non-preferential fishing waters and thereby make these waters more productive."

The proposal suggests that if necessary the projects be financed by the state with the money to be paid back with fees from the special licenses.

The convention will take up 22 resolutions divided into game, fish, pollution, administration, forests and waters and general categories. They will be voted upon Saturday afternoon just before the convention closes.

Other proposals, submitted by regional groups of the federation which takes in 180,000 members of 1,600 clubs, would:

Place a $15 county on bobcat and wildcat and an unspecified bounty on possum and weasel; request a closed season for snowshoe hare next January; permit the use of a .22 caliber pistol to kill vermin and small game; continue spike bucks as legal game; increase the trout season by two months; press for the selection of a state fish, and seek to have the Fish Commission rather than the Sanitary Water Board enforce the clean streams program.

A-Radiation Program Set

WHAT can medical science do in the aftermath of an atomic explosion?

Ever since the first A-bomb exploded over Hiroshima, doctors all over the U. S. have been asking that question. On March 29, an attempt will be made to answer at least a part of it.

Dr. James G. Kitchen, president of the Monroe County Medical Society, said last night that the most thorough job of analyzing the medic's role in the event of atomic disaster will be presented March 29 at 9:30 p. m. over NBC-TV from New York.

The program, called "Ten Years After Hiroshima," will be the first in the Spring series of "The March of Medicine."

Dr. Kitchen noted that medical science still does not have positive answers to all the questions posed by atomic radiation injuries. Some answers have been reached, however, he said.

These answers will provide the major part of the March 29 program. For this reason, Dr. Kitchen said, the program should be of special interest to all Civil Defense workers and to all residents of the community.

Collapse Of Earth Reveals Beer Vault Over Century Old

JERSEY SHORE, Pa., March 17 (P)—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orgitana learned today that they are owners of an underground beer storage vault.

But it cost them a flower garden and some frayed nerves to make the discovery.

It all happened this way: Mrs. Orgitana said she heard a loud rumbling while she was washing dishes in her Lycoming County home here.

She looked out the window and saw a 15-foot deep hole in the middle of her back yard where her flower garden had been. The hole was 20 feet long and 18 feet wide.

Oldtimers looked the situation over and recalled that a brewery had been located on the premises more than 100 years ago.

The underground room, they said, apparently was used as a beer storage vault. It had been covered with heavy timbers and a three-foot layer of earth.

Mrs. Orgitana said she lived in the house for 18 years and her husband's family for many years before that without ever knowing about the brewery.

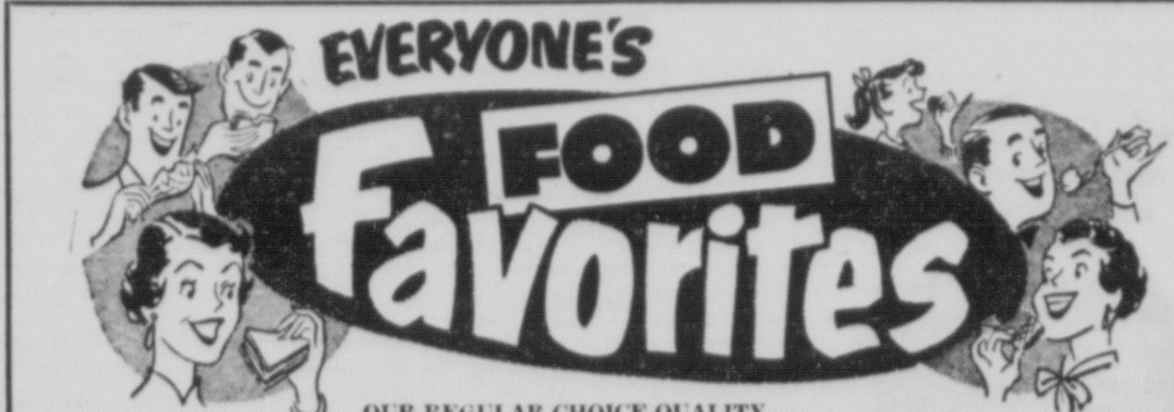

The couple's two young sons have the problem solved. "Let's cement it and fill it with water," they suggested. "Then we

Harris Vetoes Phillips St. Curb Measure

An ORDINANCE which would have provided for curbs and gutters on the south side of Phillips St. only—passed by a three to two vote by Stroudsburg Council Wednesday night—was vetoed yesterday by Chief Burgess Hal H. Harris.

The veto was applied, Mr. Harris said, because the ordinance fails to include curbs and gutters for both sides of the street. It does not authorize curbs and gutters for the north side of the street.

The veto issue will undoubtedly come before the next meeting of council on April 6, when it will either be sustained or over-ruled.

The entire council is in agreement on installation of curb and gutter on the south side of Phillips St. There was also, at one time, agreement on inclusion of the north side of the street, even though it involved exercising a legal prerogative to apply the usual assessment of one-half the cost of curb and gutter on properties located in Stroud Township.

Under legislative act a borough is able to make such an assessment where at least half of the street is within the borough. Such assessment may extend to property for a depth of 150 feet in the adjoining township. About 90 per cent of the street is in the borough, according to Engineer Edward C. Hess.

Wednesday night when the formality of including the north side of Phillips St. in the curb and gutter project—extending from Lindbergh Ave. to N. Eighth St.—was raised, Councilman Ed Doran said he had had a complaint from one of the residents that he could not pay the assessment for curb and gutter.

The assessment amounts to half of $1.60 a front foot, with the borough paying the other half.

In the vote on an ordinance which authorized curb and gutter for the south side of Phillips, not including the north side, the vote was three to two in favor of the ordinance. The north side was therefore eliminated from the project.

When the ordinance was delivered to Chief Burgess Harris for his signature—required to make it legal and to allow its publication—Mr. Harris immediately applied a veto.

CHARLES BETZLER, 1842 Arlington Ave., Stroudsburg, has been selected the winner of the $100 first prize in the successful Founder's Day contest sponsored by The Daily Record in cooperation with various area merchants.

Eight other winners were named in the competition for the $250 in prizes. The public showed outstanding response and interest in the first such contest to be held here.

Fifty-six merchants and businesses from the Stroudsburg and surrounding areas took part in helping make the event such a success. The group shows a total of 1729 years of experience in serving the people.

Considerable deliberation was required by the judges before arriving at the ten outstanding blanks presented from the vast amount of entries received right up until the deadline.

The final judging and determining of the top places was based on correctness, neatness and the earliest postmarks in the case of ties.

Ethel M. Rhodes, 147 King St., East Stroudsburg, gained the second prize of $50; Allen W. Barnes, 1086 Dreher Ave., Stroudsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schaller ranked third and fourth respectively. Barnes and the Schallers, who were one entry, will receive $25 each.

The five other finalists all won $10 prizes. They are Chester Kupiszewski, 196 Grove St., East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Pierre Lake, 818 Thomas St., Stroudsburg; Vincent M. Shafer, 740 Brown St., Stroudsburg; Geraldine Transue, RD2, Stroudsburg; and Mrs. Andy

Manpower Shortage

Labor Secretary Mitchell said a mouthful in New York the other day when he outlined this country's shortage of skilled labor.

He said the Armed Forces are 30 per cent short of the skilled men they need for critical operations.

He said there is a like shortage in private industry.

It is a dangerous situation, he said, when our national safety depends so much on our military and industrial superiority.

Mr. Mitchell said we are not making anything like full use of available manpower, that training is haphazard and ineffective and that we had better get busy and develop electronics technicians, machinists and such—on a big scale.

The Labor Secretary is the man to do something about this. And we hope he has the earnest help of industry, educational institutions, labor unions and the public in general. He will need the help, and the country needs such a program—badly.

Culpability Absolved

Whatever man does not understand, man is very likely to describe in words of incredible ignorance, so the recent storms of violent character are being widely blamed on the experimental bomb blasts in the West.

This just is not so. We have it on the authority of no less a savant than Professor Charles L. Hosler, presently conducting the Department of Meteorology at Pennsylvania State University, who scoffs at the idea and refuses to accept even the theory seriously.

Purely coincidental, the Penn State scientist says. In a few words, the storms that brought havoc to a number of areas including part of the Commonwealth, were in a formative state before the bombs were triggered and received no additional propelling force from the big blasts.

Actually, we sort of hate to take note of this official pronouncement, for there is nothing more entertaining than speculation about natural forces, and the business of blaming hurricane storm forces on the bombs was too good to pass up.

But, as the learned gentleman from the Nittany Mountains tells us, no matter how much the theory may appeal, it has no basis of fact.

A Lethal Bird

Falconry in an earlier period of history was one of the most famous sports extant, and the trained falcon with his unerring attack on chosen feathered targets was the most lethal bird ever observed in action. Actually, the falcon is still employed in some parts of the world in continuation of the age-old sport.

So when the Air Force announced the newest weapon in its collection of guided missiles, it's designation as the "Falcon" gives the immediate mental picture of a powerful striking element concentrating on the kill and permitting no evasive action to deviate it from its course.

For the air-to-air missile which has had thorough testing and which is described as the only such missile produced with "a brain of its own," is quite apparently as viciously efficient a lethal instrument as the powerful bird after which it is named.

To the non-scientific mind, it is difficult to comprehend how such a small package of engine and instrumentation can produce the amazing success of the Falcon, which twists and turns with every escape maneuver of its target and finally bores in to destroy it.

The Air Force, the Army, and the Navy are all working on their versions of ground-to-air, ground-to-ground, and air-to-air guided missiles, and the Air Force seems to have come up with one that should bring horrible nightmares to the pilots of enemy bombers or jet fighters.

Warfare has come far from the pageantry of an earlier period, when the king-commanders would take time out from the fighting to relax with their falconry enjoyment.

George Sokolsky Says

High Price Of American Equities More Likely Due To Hedge Against Inflation

The dramatic personality of Walter Winchell has high-lighted an investigation into the Stock Exchange operations which otherwise have been very dull. The question is, when is a tip a tip?

Trading in stocks or bonds or anything else is part of the capitalist process of using surplus capital at risk with the objects of a profit. The law of supply and demand plays a role in this process, but risk-taking often involves a factor of gambling, sometimes called speculation.

Let us say that I am in a restaurant and I hear three men converse, as I recently did, using more decimals than they imagined. It was not eavesdropping; actually they forced their private conversation upon me and upon all the others in their vicinity. I thus heard of a very important prospective transaction. I had a tip. In a word, if what these men said to each other was correct, a very sizeable fortune could be earned by an investment. If the deal fell through, I doubt whether there would be any loss at all, or at most, a small loss.

Now the question arises, should I give the tip to someone who can afford the risk, or being in the business of telling the public what comes to me, should I shout it from the housetop? This is an ethical question which different men approach from different points of view. Some believe that the responsibility is to make known what is available. Others hold to the doctrine that unless one can guarantee against loss, one should not advise in such matters. Still others feel that no one is required to accept a tip and therefore the tipster is absolved.

Winchell's contention, I believe, is that he provides advance news and not tips; that no one is required to go into the market.

The recent rise in the stock market may be due to many causes:

1. A flight from the dollar. This is often called a hedge against inflation. Undoubtedly whenever any form of inflation appears, those who have surplus capital prefer to see it in the form of equities rather than in currency or government bonds which are the same as currency. Buying shares in a company is purchasing ownership, but in most instances the buyer is only interested in equities as investments or as speculation. He transfers his responsibilities of ownership to management. Such owners of stock make a market in the stock itself as though it were a commodity, when actually it is a certificate of partial ownership.
2. John J. McCloy, Chairman of the Chase National Bank, has testified before the Fulbright Committee that the stock market's current activities cannot be attributed to unusual purchases by trust funds, both personal and pension. He said that these funds amounted to "only a small fraction of the value of stock traded on the Exchange." McCloy should be well-informed on this subject because of his connection with the Chase bank, but it is known that some Foundations, which formerly invested most of their funds in bonds, moved to stocks as a hedge against inflation. Furthermore, labor unions are not only investing pension funds but the ordinary surpluses in their treasuries in common stock, often in the companies of their industry. Such investments are generally held as long-term investments. They therefore produce a shortage of stock available for trading and the price goes up.- 3. A large number of mergers have taken place, offering splendid opportunities for a profit by the sale of stock. Smart operators are always looking for such opportunities and often buy on the prospect that such an opportunity may occur. When a tight proxy fight takes place and each side is anxious to come into possession of increasing amounts of stock, it is likely that the price will rise, even if only temporarily. A profit can be made during the period of anxiety.

- 4. The high prices for American equities are more likely to be due to a hedge against inflation than to any other cause, but the real danger to our economy lies in a possible lowering of the value of the dollar in Europe, which could be very serious indeed. The problem then that the Fulbright Committee ought to investigate if it really is concerned with our economic dangers is not the New York stock market but the world position of the dollar.

Editor of The Daily Record
Dear Sir:

Congratulations are in order for Mayor Harris for his attack on the Pocono Chamber of Commerce program against bringing of large, good paying industries here.

The working people for a long time have known what the Chamber of Commerce policy has been, and is now, on large, good-paying industries coming here:

- 1.—To keep Monroe County in resort area.
- 2.—To have at all times a large force of unemployed labor so that the men who run the Chamber of Commerce and also run local industry will at all times have a large force of cheap labor available.

At the present time labor is not competitive in this area.

With a large good-paying industry coming here, labor will be competitive. Local industries will be forced to increase the pay in order to secure new help and keep their old help.

The Chamber of Commerce is after small, low-paying industries to come here.

If the men of the Chamber of Commerce were voted into office by a general election, you would have a new and better Chamber of Commerce.

In my opinion the "Record" is letting the unemployed workers of this area down by bringing to the public, the policy of the Chamber of Commerce toward the bringing large, good-paying industries here.

It looks from here that the only intelligentsia in Monroe County are from the Chamber of Commerce and the "Record."

Diet Of 'The Old Days' Helped Stop Our Colds

Whether winters were colder in the old days, and the snows deeper, I couldn't say for sure. Seems to me they were, but I may be biased.

As it does many people when they grow older, it irks me to hear these young whippersnappers bellyaching about what a tough life they have.

But I will have to admit that the winter colds are more persistent than they were in the old days.

Although I never kept accurate records, it runs in my mind that for years two colds per winter was about par. They were doozies while they lasted but they lasted only a week or so. During the interludes you could breathe normally and forget about sniffles and sneezes.

But these last few years the colds seem to be following a different pattern. They develop faster but clear up in two or three days.

Then they come back. And they keep on going away and coming back until well on toward the Fourth of July.

You never know whether you've had one big cold all winter or 50 different little ones. All you know is that you get mighty tired of coughing, honking, nose-tickling, throat-burning and pulling tissues out of a box.

I have a theory as to what causes this. The theory may not be right, but whose theory is?

My hunch is that these hang-on colds are the result of many years of education in health and hygiene—particularly prophylactic nutrition.

In the old days—when the winters were cold and the snow deep—people didn't consume food for medical purposes, to make themselves healthy. They ate because they were hungry and the food tasted good.

So naturally they didn't eat right, by modern laboratory standards. Too much meat and potatoes—not enough grapefruit and endive.

As a result, all unbeknown to them, they developed a lot of deficiency diseases—rickets, pellagra, beri-beri and a lot of other insidious forms of malnutrition that didn't kill them but often made them feel "poorly."

Now, my theory on why they didn't know they had these ailments is that their bodies built up combative juices to cope with the damaging effects. And those combative juices were strong enough to knock off some of the cold bugs and other infections that might otherwise have laid people low.

Nowadays more of us eat meals that are scientifically tailored to head off deficiency diseases. So our bodies don't so often have to improvise defenses against those diseases. So the lurking cold bugs are free to wander hither and yon about the respiratory tract without hindrance.

As I say, this theory doesn't have the A.M.A. seal of approval. There may be nothing to it. But I find it more comforting than the thought that I'm just not as young as I once was.

These scientists are going too far. They've discovered now that by putting a small amount of vegetable dye in your hens' feed, you can have eggs with any color you like that suit your fancy—green, red, purple, or whatever you want. Better steer clear of scrambled eggs or sunny-side-ups St. Patrick's Day or Fourth of July, if this sort of thing takes hold!

Robert S. Allen Reports

Russia Has Been Testing Large Atomic Submarine

Washington — Russia has been testing an atomic submarine since early this year.

Intelligence experts have observed some of these operational trials.

The specialists' reports indicate this craft is inferior or in certain significant respects to the NAUTILUS, which has completed its tests.

To signalize that, the first U.S. nuclear-powered submarine will take members of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee on an overnight cruise this week-end.

Authoritative word of this ominous Soviet development was a key factor behind the Navy's big increase in funds for atomic vessels, in the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

One of these new nuclear ships will be a super-aircraft carrier capable of launching long-range bombers armed with atomic weapons, both offensive and defensive. Contracts have already been let for the power reactor of this huge vessel. The Navy's program also includes five more atomic subs.

That is several more than was originally contemplated. It had been planned to spread these five new nuclear subs over a couple of years.

At present the U.S. has the NAUTILUS and another craft slated to be launched in the fall. Russia has one operating nuclear sub and is building others. German scientists and ship-builders are in the forefront in the activity. They are also largely credited with the Soviet's numerical superiority in submarines, estimated at 370.

Controlled Talk — The White House is carefully scrutinizing a number of important speeches that will be made in the next few weeks on military and foreign policies, particularly on the ominous Formosa crisis.

This precaution is being taken on the direct order of President Eisenhower.

He issued it after Defense Secretary Wilson's off-the-cuff remark, at his press conference, that Quemoy and Matsu Islands are important but not necessary for the military security of Formosa.

When Secretary of State Dulles, just back from Formosa, was shown this statement, he complained both to the President and Wilson. The latter was most apologetic; explained he had not thought of contradicting Dulles. The President told Wilson to clear future comments on foreign policy with the White House.

This admonition was largely the reason why Wilson skipped his next press conference.

It is also being credited with the word attributed to him in Pentagon circles that he would like to become an ambassador when he leaves the cabinet. Wilson is quoted as saying he "wouldn't mind being Ambassador to Germany."

The large battery of Pentagon officials scheduled to make speeches is no accident. It was carefully arranged that way.

All the addresses have a common purpose: To make Administration policies clear both at home and abroad, particularly the latter. That's why the talks are submitted before delivery to the White House.

The forthcoming orators include Navy Secretary Charles Thomas, Air Secretary Harold Talbot, Deputy Defense Secretary Robert Anderson, Assistant Defense Secretary Donald Quarles, General Nathan Twining, Air Chief of Staff, Admiral Robert Carney, Navy Chief of Operations, and Admiral Radford, head of the Joint Chiefs.

First Grade Youngsters Learning About Indians

THE INDIANS took over at Morey School this week. It was a peaceful invasion.

Members of Mrs. Marian Baldwin's first grade class started studying Indian cultures recently. To dramatize the study, Mrs. Baldwin encouraged the children to make their own headdresses, learn Indian customs.

The pupils learned Indian songs—such as "John Brown Had A Little Indian" and "Indians In A Teepee". Not authentic, maybe, but Indian in flavor, anyway, Mrs. Baldwin said.

Next the children made an "Indian" movie. It was a dramatization of the story of "Ah-di, A Little Indian Boy." Elaine Koffman learned to do an Indian dance, aided by the rest of the group. To make "tom-toms," the children brought oatmeal and salt boxes from home, painted them in bright colors and pastels, learned to thump them in a kind of set.

Philadelphia spent the weekend with the former's mother, Mrs. Anna Smoko.

Carl Kresge of Tannersville was a caller in the community on Saturday.

Clarence Major visited his wife in Allentown on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. John Martin who lived in this community for some time have moved to Florida where Mr. Martin has been employed.

McCool Speaks On Old Guns At Pocono School

TANNERSVILLE — Henryville gunsmith Tom McCool talked about Civil War weapons to Pocono High School students this week.

McCool gave his talk Wednesday. He brought along a varied selection of rifles, pistols and other firearms. These were used to illustrate points in his lecture.

The gunsmith discussed early flintlock rifles, breech loaders and the famous "Spencer and Henry" rifles. One of these guns, McCool told the group, was used to shoot a Confederate general from a distance of one mile, 110 feet.

The speaker answered questions following completion of his talk.

Atomic Bombing Of Hiroshima Opened Way For Christianity And Marxism In Japan

By George W. Cornell
NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—The bomb fell. Then came a churning, religious whirlwind.

"People began groping to find a way," said a man who felt the blast of that bomb and who stands today in the midst of that wind.

Father Pedro de Arrupe was talking about a land which was shaken to its roots by war and the bomb—Japan.

"The effect has brought on a terrific spiritual struggle," he said.

It's as if the bomb, in its awesome power, emphasized the ultimate question of life or death, and worried men's hearts.

Could it be, then, that coming face-to-face with the bomb caused a greater search for goodness?

"I could never say there was anything good in the bomb," said Father Arrupe, who remembers too well the nightmare he lived through at Hiroshima.

Yet, he said, it did bring a "closeness to the elements, to suffering, and a more serious reflection on religion and eternity."

And afterward, a flood of about 300 new "religions" swirled across the land, led by two which hardly got a nod before—Christianity and Marxism.

Father Arrupe, as provincial of the Society of Jesus in Japan, directs work of a fast-expanding band of Catholic priests, now numbering 310. He noted both promise and peril in the post-war ideological ferment.

"It left a spiritual void," he said. "Because of Japan's high intellectual level and advanced organization, the ideas she chooses now will influence the whole Orient."

The blast came while Father Arrupe, a priest in Japan for 17 years, worked in his Hiroshima study five miles from the center. Uninjured, he led 45 priests in sleepless days of aid to maimed thousands.

"Everywhere, people were lying or crawling, blinded or burned," he said. "The whole city was burning. For many days we could not stop for rest, knowing that every 15 minutes of work saved a life."

With 200 of the city's 250 doctors killed, Father Arrupe's five years of medical training served a crying need.

And then, with the war ended and the bomb site a mass of rubble, he found himself amid new wounds—of the spirit. Few Westerners have been so close to the strange before-and-after metamorphosis.

"All the traditions were cut away and the old convictions collapsed," he said. "The people's whole attitude has changed, as if by shock. They are ready to discuss absolute values. They are looking for the truth."

All this, he said, has these oddly conflicting overtones.

Before the war, the people were extremely moral, proud, orderly, rigidly convinced of the superiority of their nationalist institutions, so honest that lock on a door was a disgrace.

They also were hostile to Christianity.

After the war and the bomb, all this tight-knit assurance faded, the staunch traditions and loyalties crumbled, old virtues fell away, crime rose, and now locks sealed nearly every door.

Yet, the change also opened the gate to Christianity.

"The opportunity also was opened to any kind of ideology," Father Arrupe said. "All sorts of new religions started up. And the people's background was such that it is difficult for them to judge."

Father Arrupe, a wiry, learned, Spanish-born priest who stopped off here on return to Japan from consultations in Rome, said the strongest rivals in Japan now are Marxism and Christianity.

"Both are making progress," he said. "In numbers, perhaps Marxism is ahead. But in depth, Christianity is laying a stronger base."

Many of the new religions have died out, but about 150 still are going, he said. "Tenrikyo," a rosy-viewed, optimistic pantheism, is among the most widespread. Buddhism and Shintoism, he said, have lost their grips.

"If we don't provide a real certitude of faith," Father Arrupe said, "it will mean the disintegration of the country. There will be nothing meaningful to replace what was lost."

"In a way, they were settled and happy before, but they now are trying to find another way. It will be a terrible tragedy if they see the West's materialism as its main substance, and get off on the wrong track."

However, he said, the Japanese character has a close relation to Christianity. Their kindness, virtue, respect for authority, and emphasis on ancestral truths all show a "real spirituality," he said.

"Today, they are thinking, criticizing, reading everything from French existentialism to Hegel and Nietzsche, things they never did before. They have an open mind to freedom, to religion, to new ideas."

In this atmosphere, the Jesuit order has more than tripled its force in Japan since the war, in its work at the Catholic University in Tokyo, where Father Arrupe resides, and in building parishes through the country.

Did the bomb bring this expanded opportunity for Christianity? Father Arrupe again shook his head, pondering. "It was a frightening tragic thing. It is part of the world's mechanism, of hate and power. And there is no answer except in deeper principles, in morals, in the hearts and homes of men."

He paused: "Yes, it did in a way illustrate the urgency of solving a spiritual crisis."

Yet, he said, memory of horror fades for many men, and they think only of building a bigger bomb.

Would the people of Hiroshima ever think this way? "No, not them. They would rather not talk about it."

Steels Rally, Lift Stocks Moderately

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—The stock market wandered along quietly today but closed higher following a late rally by steels.

It was the third straight advance for the market since it suffered a major setback in a reaction that started a week ago Monday. The market now has retraced a little better than 40 per cent of the break.

Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube were under some selling pressure after the Justice Department disclosed it would go to the courts if necessary to block a proposed merger. Bethlehem was in the forefront of the late steel rally, however, and closed up 3 1/2 at 130. Youngstown was up 1/2 at 77 1/2 at the finish.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 60 cents at $156.10 with the industrial component up $1.00, and rails and utilities each ahead 20 cents.

There were only 1,180 individual issues traded, lowest in about five months, with 533 higher and 374 lower. Twenty-three stocks hit new 1954-55 highs. There were no new lows.

Trading dwindled to 2,200,000 shares, lowest since Nov. 1. Yesterday's total also was below the daily average so far this year at 2,900,000 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher on volume of 790,000 shares as compared with 660,000 shares yesterday.

The bond market was higher on light volume. U. S. government issues in the over the counter market were easy.

Bond Sales Increase In Pennsylvania

MONROE AND PIKE Counties showed considerable drops in the purchases of U. S. Savings Bonds during February, according to reports of state sales. Wayne was the only area county increasing its sales.

E. H. Wyckoff, Monroe County chairman, announced the area sales as $37,162 last month as compared with a figure of $68,825 for the same month in 1954. Pike's sales slipped from $20,050 to $13,212 in a year, while Wayne residents advanced with the purchase of $98,943 worth of bonds. Its February, 1954 total had been $81,606. J. C. Warner Jr. is the Pike chairman and Fred B. Truman handles Wayne.

More than $38,700,000 in the popular Series E & H bonds were purchased by the people of Pennsylvania during February.

This represented a gain of more than $2,000,000 over that month a year ago.

"These figures indicate that increasing numbers of men and women in every type of occupation and in all income groups are buying U. S. Savings Bonds regularly," declares Ray S. Tannehill, State chairman, U. S. Savings Bonds committee for Pennsylvania.

Sales of the bonds throughout the nation during the first two months of 1955 totaled $1,038,000, 000 to set a 10-year record. Americans continue to buy more Series E & H bonds than they cash in, he reported.

Chestnuthill PTA Sponsors Amateur Program Tonight

BRODHEADSVILLE—An "Amateur Night" program will be held at 8 tonight in Chestnuthill School auditorium.

Sponsored by the Parent Teachers Association of the township, the amateur program promises to be one of the big events of the year, a PTA spokesman said.

PAT WARD, 21, leaves court in New York after breaking down during her first day of testimony at the vice trial of Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke. Admitting she had borne an illegitimate child "when I was just 17," the distraught former call girl told how she met Jelke and was introduced to a series of "dates." She named three men that paid her $100 each after she told them a hard-core story.

Jelke Netted $15,000, Says Miss Ward

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—Call girl Pat Ward testified today she chased Mickey Jelke out of her life with a knife, after she said he netted nearly $15,000 by peddling her charms.

The lithe, 21-year-old brunette broke down anew during the recital and only a court recess halted her sobbing.

Shortly afterward she went under cross-examination at Jelke's compulsory prostitution trial. Before she was well into this ordeal, she was sobbing again and her tears washed out the trial for the day.

During the day, Miss Ward dropped some big names—producer George White, actor Dane Clark, comedian Joey Adams, band leader Skitch Henderson, disc jockey Jack Eigen.

None of them was represented as more than a passing acquaintance, however, and there was no suggestion that they were among her wealthy lovers. She testified, in fact, that White sidestepped a clumsy attempt to entrap him with her tarnished charms.

Jelke is accused of enticing Miss Ward and 25-year-old Marguerite Cordova into a $50-to-$100-a-date cafe society call girl circuit. A conviction two years ago was thrown out because part of the testimony was taken in secret with press and public barred. The oleomargarine heir, now 25, faces up to 40 years in prison if convicted on retrial. The hearing opened March 7.

Annual Wage Explained To Rotary Club

STABILITY is not only the goal of both labor and management, but stability affects both labor and management, Lew F. Leffler, of Line Material Co. told members of the Stroudsburg Rotary Club yesterday.

The guaranteed annual wage, Leffler said, is an attempt to achieve stability, particularly for the employee. Management, he said, faces the problem of financing such a plan. By and large, he noted, management does not feel that the annual wage is practical.

Many industries expect a demand for the annual wage within the next two years, Leffler indicated.

The automobile workers are now in the process of asking for an annual wage, but they are not the first, he said.

Hornel, Proctor and Gamble and Nunn-Busch have had the guaranteed annual wage in effect for some years, Mr. Leffler disclosed.

Graydon Hoffman was program chairman.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Most of us don't feel as if we looked all pale and winter-worn — that is, until we come up against the vacationers back from the South. Against their glowing tan and look of health — we look as spindly and wan as that houseplant that got stuck in a dark corner — the one we forgot to water.

Hopefully, we look for signs of peeling, but no luck. They just look disgustingly healthy. And probably are. Certainly that Southern golf didn't hurt their Northern bowling any.

Well, I suppose we might as well be pea-green with envy as the fish-belly white we are. Of course, we could have worked up a good wind-burn yesterday if we had wanted to.

And if you wanted to, I suppose you could work up a good frenzy today trying to make up your minds about whether to go to the Community Chorus or the SHS Junior play. It's a shame to miss either one.

Just to make you happier, I'll let you in on a secret. You might have a conflict on the last Community Concert, too. It's been changed to the same night as the SHS Chorus concert.

Well, we're certainly full of good cheer this morning, aren't we? Just in the mood for a rainy weekend.

Listen To Bobby Westbrook on the Party Line over WVFO every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10:05 a. m.

Mount Pocono — An excellent attendance of the Pocono Mt. Council of Republican Women marked their meeting Tuesday night at Paradise Valley Lodge, Mount Pocono.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Nelson, president. Reports were given by the various committees. The Welfare Committee suggested that a donation of $25 be made to the Keiper family of this area, who recently lost by fire their home and all personal belongings.

A legislative report was given by Mrs. Elsie Bryan.

The second part of the program was in charge of Mrs. Eva Taylor who introduced a number of local and county candidates who were present. Remarks were given by Commissioner Altomose, Dist. Atty. Christine an also John Wernett, candidate for auditor.

An invitation was extended to the Council to a meeting of the West End Club at Tannersville Inn, Friday, March 26, at which several entertaining features will be presented. It was also agreed that the council join in a general meeting of Republican women of the county to be held at Mt. Airy Lodge in April.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Did you ever wonder why your draperies lose some of their grace after hanging a while, and take on a "stringy" appearance? Douglas Gordon tells me there's a very simple way to guard against this. After the draperies are hung, tie a stout cord around the bottom, and arrange the folds from top to bottom just as you wish them to fall. Leave the cord in place for several days, until the fabric has absorbed moisture from the air. Then remove it with the knowledge that the folds will be permanent.

And Edna Schmidt of our slip-cover workroom has been giving me tips on keeping slip covers beautiful. In the first place, she recommends the making of additional covers for the arms and—in the case of a chair used exclusively by a man using hair oils—additional backs, in the same fabric, of course. As Edna points out, the very first point of wear on all chairs and sofas is the arm. So the extra pieces, while adding a bit to the original cost, assure much longer wear, as well as much greater lengths of time between laund-rings.

That word "laundering" is another Edna uses. She says she favors soap and water cleaning above dry cleaning for slipcovers, and has yet to see a quality fabric that won't take it if done properly. There is, of course, some danger of shrinkage, particularly where cord is concerned. To guard against this possibility, I asked our workroom ladies to be sure and allow ample seams on my pieces. And they always do have double three-inch hems on the draperies. But about this business of washing slipcovers, Edna tells me she puts hers in the automatic and then, when they are about three-quarters dry, puts them back on the furniture. This pulls them back into their original shape. When thoroughly dry, she removes them and presses the pleats or ruffles. The resulting long wear and permanent custom-made look are well worth the effort.

Personally, I am tremendously fond of slip covers and matching drapes. My sofa is brand new, and has never been sat upon except by potential customers—but it was moved directly from our Sears selling floor to the workroom to be fitted.

And speaking of draperies — they wouldn't be much without a cornice board, so Laura Wildrick of our decorating department has handled that too. What's more, Elmer Gouher has matched the background of the fabric so perfectly in the painting that it's almost too good to be true.

There was a time when the folks "out yonder" complained that the Wyckoff Shopper didn't even know what they were doing. But 'tain't so now . . . I hang around that workroom so much, they'll probably move my desk out back and invite me to stay there. I'd be in mighty good company too, so I wouldn't mind a bit.

Release Of Yalta Papers Points Up Futility Of West-Negotiating Successfully With Reds

By J. M. Roberts

Associated Press News Analyst

Publication of the Yalta papers makes one wonder what all the shooting has been about for the past several days.

There is no denying the interest of being able to study the individual reactions of Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin as they reached decisions of world importance. But there's mighty little added to public knowledge.

The politicians, of course, will continue to interpret things as they wish, selecting quotations to back up their arguments.

As for greatly upsetting international relations by publication, the fear seems to have been exaggerated. France and Germany, particularly, are entirely different today than when the conferees talked harshly about them. If Roosevelt was enthusiastic about partitioning Germany, that is certainly not American policy now and the Germans are well aware of it. If Churchill was contemptuous of France, he has certainly found her important enough to require a lot of British policy compromises in the postwar years, such as on Western European Union and the European Coal and Steel Community. The British have assumed, for them, highly unusual ties with France.

Americans may regret that Roosevelt displayed so much preoccupation with politics back home when dealing with vital world affairs, or that his health was so bad he skirted fights on an occasion or two.

As to whether he played a game of give-away in his confidence that he could make a postwar friend out of Russia, the record is not greatly clarified by the new material. Roosevelt was briefed by the State Department as to the possibilities of being undercut by Russia. But he still thought he could take Stalin's word. It was a mistake for him to think that, whether or not he was justified in relying on reports from the highest military authorities that it was extremely important to get Russia into the Japanese war.

Some expert students of Russian affairs, you know, believe they perceive evidence from the record of events that Stalin, too, agreed to more than he could get the Politburo to back him up on.

Hindsight, of course, makes Roosevelt seem considerably less than omnipotent, and such political hay as the papers contain belongs to the Republicans.

Whether that played an important part in the decision to publish them seems doubtful. The world situation is too grave and a bipartisan foreign policy too important for that. Instead, much use will be made of the papers in the Western world to hammer home the thought that the song of Russia is the song of the Lorelei, and to explain why Western diplomats have no confidence of being able to negotiate successfully with the Communists.

FDR Advised Of A-Bomb Before Yalta

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt was advised several weeks before the 1945 Yalta conference that U.S. atomic experts expected to have the first atomic bomb ready by Aug. 1, 1945.

This was disclosed in documents pertaining to the Big Three Yalta meeting made public by the State Department last night.

Actually, the first atomic bomb was dropped on Japan Aug. 6, 1945.

The documents just released included a letter dated Dec. 30, 1944, from Maj. Gen. L. R. Groves to Gen. George C. Marshall, then Army chief of staff.

Groves was head of the Army's Manhattan District which developed the atomic bomb.

His letter described it as expected to produce "the equivalent of a 10,000 ton TNT explosion."

"The first bomb, without previous full scale test which we do not believe will be necessary should be ready about 1, August, 1945," Groves wrote.

"The second one should be ready by the end of the year and succeeding ones at number deleted intervals thereafter."

A notation at the bottom of the letter, over Groves' initials and dated Dec. 30, noted: "The secretary of war and the President both read this paper and approved it." Another notation initiated by Marshall and addressed to "S.W." (apparently secretary of war) said: "I think the foregoing proposal should be approved with your concurrence."

A footnote by the editors of the Yalta documents said:

"No available records, however, contain any indication that atomic energy matters were discussed with the British at Yalta or with either the British or the Russians at Yalta."

Poconos Turn Lake Harmony Into Ninth Victim, 73-65

Stetler Paces Winners With 42 Points

POCONO PINES—Stroudsburg's championship minded Poconos virtually clinched the Pocono Mountains Basketball League title last night with a 73-65 victory over second place Lake Harmony in the second half of a doubleheader played here on the Tobyhanna Township High School court.

The win was the ninth straight in second half competition for the first half title holder, while Lake Harmony suffered its second setback against seven wins in the second half wars.

Henry "Hank" Stetler, perennial scoring leader in the area, was the big difference between the two foes as he rattled the cords for 42 points. The high jumping forward dropped 19 field goals into the cords and found the range on four foul shots.

Stroudsburg broke into the lead for the first time in the second half after Lake Harmony had nursed a one-point advantage into the third round.

Both teams came up with 16 points in the first period, but the Lakers went in front with a 15-18 advantage in the second stanza which was good for a 35-34 lead.

The Poconos began to click on all cylinders in the third period as they ran up a 22-10 edge and entered the final stanza on the long end of a 56-45 tabulation.

Lake Harmony, even though forced to play the last three minutes with only four players because of personal fouls, rallied in the last quarter for a 20-17 edge, but it wasn't enough to turn the tide of battle.

The Poconos enjoyed a 31-27 advantage in the field goal department, and hit on 11 of 23 foul shots. Lake Harmony converted 11 of 29 charity tosses.

Frank Radocka was the individual high scorer for Lake Harmony with 20 points.

Lopes Risks Ring Streak

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—Joey Lopes puts his seven-fight winning streak on the line against the "new" Carmelo Costa in the feature 10 in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

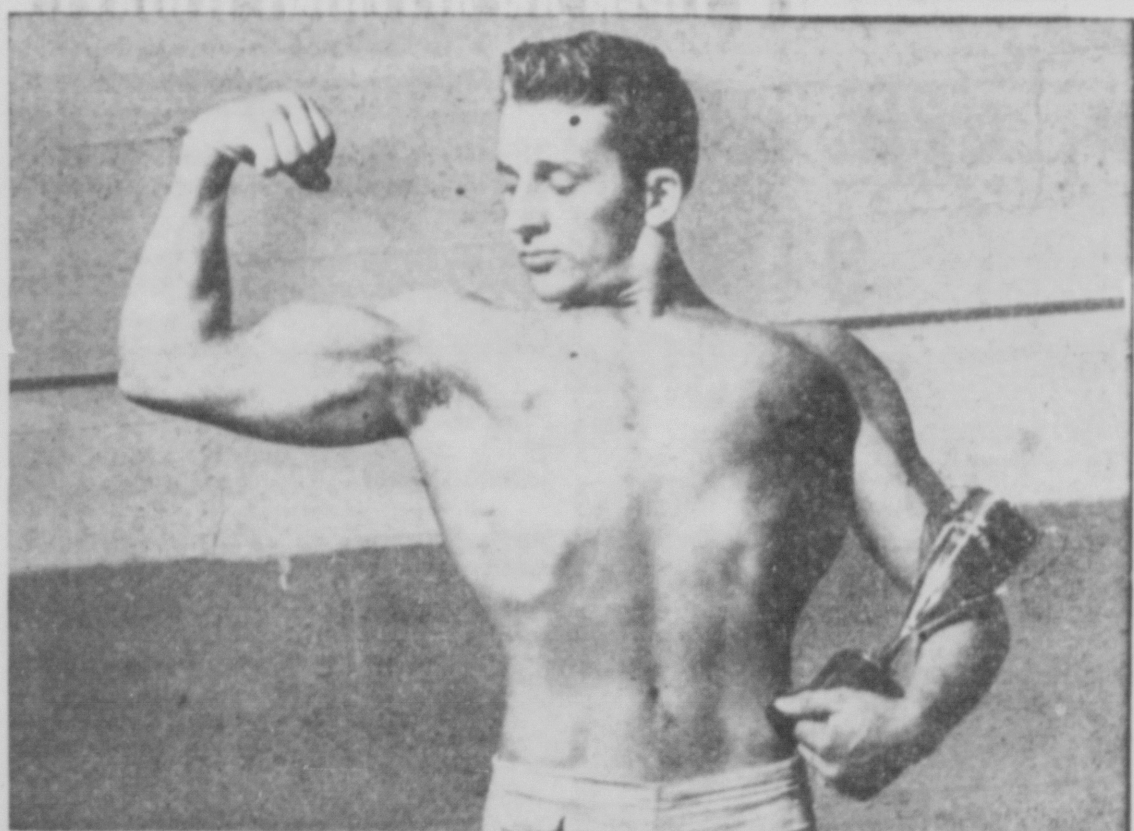

But new or old, Costa still is a 7½-5 underdog against the shifty little ex-GI from Sacramento, Calif. Both fighters boast good records—Lopes shows 30 victories, 6 defeats and one tie while Costa's record is 24-23.

The suspicion is that Costa, a lad from Brooklyn, has bitten off more than he can chew.

Both have agreed to come in at 132 pounds.

Mercer High Wins

HARRISBURG, March 17 (AP)—Mercer High School vaulted into the class "B" finals of the western Pennsylvania regional basketball championship tonight with a 76-62 victory over Karns City.

Valdes, Moore To Sign For Las Vegas 15-Rounder Today

NINO VALDES, now training at Harry's Farm, fight camp located at the foot of the Pocono Mountains, will sign to meet light heavyweight champion Archie Moore in Las Vegas, Nev., on either May 2 or 3, today, The Daily Record was informed late last night.

The signing will take place with promoter ack Kearns in New York.

It was further learned by The Daily Record that the winner of the Valdes-Moore 15-rounder will claim the heavyweight title, due to the fact that present title holder "Rocky" Maricano has refused to meet both Valdes and Moore, even though the former is the number one contender.

The fight, listed for Cushman Field, has a guaranteed purse of $200,000 which may grow even larger before fight time.

Valdes will begin ring work at Harry's Farm on Sunday of this week. Julie Mederos who fights Bob Baker in Madison Square Garden a week from today, will provide the opposition in the ring with Valdes. Mederos recently scored a knockout win over Roland LaStarza in Florida.

Valdes made it known recently that Harry Freedman, owner of Harry's Farm, would go with him to Las Vegas to supervise preparation of his food prior to the battle with Moore. Valdes is expected to stay in this area until late next month.

Varsity 'S' Club To Hold Tourney, Present Hypnotist

BEGINNING MONDAY, March 28 and running through Saturday, April 2, it will be Varsity "S" Club Week in Stroudsburg, as the athletic organization plans to hold two affairs that will enrich its treasury. Both projects dominated last night's meeting at Stroudsburg Municipal Building.

The Varsity "S" Basketball Tournament, successor to the Gold Medal Tournament, will begin on March 28, with the final round planned for Saturday night, April 2.

On Friday, April 1, the club will present G. K. Ernst, outstanding hypnotist, who has drawn rave notices wherever he has appeared in recent years. The program, to be held in the Stroudsburg High auditorium, will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets will be on sale next Monday. Every member of the club will be conducting the sales. All proceeds from both events will go to the Varsity "S" Club and in turn will be used to defray the cost of the annual spring banquet and awards for varsity lettermen at Stroudsburg High.

The tournament, open to any number of teams and featuring few limitations, will be run almost exactly as Gold Medal tournaments in the past.

Members of the tournament committee are Warren "Mag" Loney, Tom Sommers, John DeVivo, George Metropoulos, Chet Gross, Sam Everett and Mahlon Serfass.

The committee held a meeting following the regular club gathering, at which time it was decided to limit each team to two players who saw action with either college varsity or junior varsity clubs during the past season. Each team may have one varsity and one junior varsity, or two of one team and none of the other on its roster.

Each roster will be limited to eight players and all teams must make application for admission by 7:30 p.m., March 24. Entry blanks and rosters must be accompanied by a $10 entrance fee.

Entries may be made at radio station WVPO or at Community Jewelers anytime between now and the deadline.

Admission prices for the tournament, to be staged on the Stroudsburg High court, are 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for students. Each game will feature eight minutes quarters with a doubleheader to be played each night of the tournament.

Pairings for the tournament will be drawn at a committee meeting next Thursday night at 7:30 p.m., at Community Jewelers.

There will be a first and second place team trophy, 10 all-star player awards, an outstanding player trophy and a sportsmanship trophy as tournament prizes.

Hummelstown Knocks Coplay From Playoffs

READING—A foul shot and tap-in turned ultimate victory into defeat for Coplay's slightly favored basketball team and sent Hummelstown into the class "C" Eastern Regional PIAA finals as the latter school pulled out a 52-50 victory in a semi-final battle at the Albright College gymnasium before 650 fans last night. Hummelstown will meet Freeland next week for the title.

Coach Joe Steiner's District 11 champions went into final 11 seconds of play with a 50-49 advantage when Hummelstown scoring ace Ken Warfel was fouled. The forward converted the first try to deadlock the issue. His second attempt bounced off the rim but IHS center Dean Custer tapped it back through the hoop to clinch the triumph and the trip to the finals.

It was a bitter pill to swallow for the losing Wildcats. The Steiner team, who entered the fray with a 24-7 record, had led most of the way only to lose their scoring punch in the final session and see the victors turn on the steam.

Hummelstown, the District three champs, opened with a 14-8 advantage but fell behind 23-20 at halftime and trailed until the final period. Coplay had pulled away to a 42-34 lead after three quarters but suddenly slowed down. The winning charges of Coach Charley Miller quickly sliced the margin to 43-42 in the opening three minutes of the fourth and it was nip-and-tuck the rest of the way.

Warfel sparked the final rally with six of his nine points. Custer, his partner in turning the tide in the final seconds, paced the victory attack with 14 followed by Dick Emerich with 13. Captain Lloyd Seaman added 10 as the Millermen used only five players. Hummelstown is now 20-7 for the year.

Coplay guard "Rick" Mortimer led all the scorers with 16 digits. "Chuck" McGinley hit 10 and three others contributed eight in the losing cause. Coplay was without the services of stellar-guard Bill Casper, who was sidelined for a few days due to a sprained ankle.

Accuracy at the foul line again meant the difference between victory and defeat. Both schools made 19 field goals and had the same number of foul tries in the hard-fought battle. The final difference was in the favor of Hummelstown High due to converting 14 of 26 attempts, while Coplay made good on 12 free throws.

Orioles Nip Dodgers, 5-4

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 17 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and Baltimore Orioles drew a local record baseball crowd of 4,620 fans today and gave them a full run for their money when they went 10 innings before the Orioles won 5-4 on an error.

After an indifferent performance by Billy Loes which handed the Orioles two quick runs, the Dodgers took a 4-2 lead by the seventh. Three runs came in the sixth on as many bases on balls, plus Carl Furillo's double and a sacrifice fly.

The Orioles reached Pete Wiley for two runs on a double by Bob Young and singles by Cal Abrams, Gil Coan and Gene Woodling in the same stanza and the game went into extra innings.

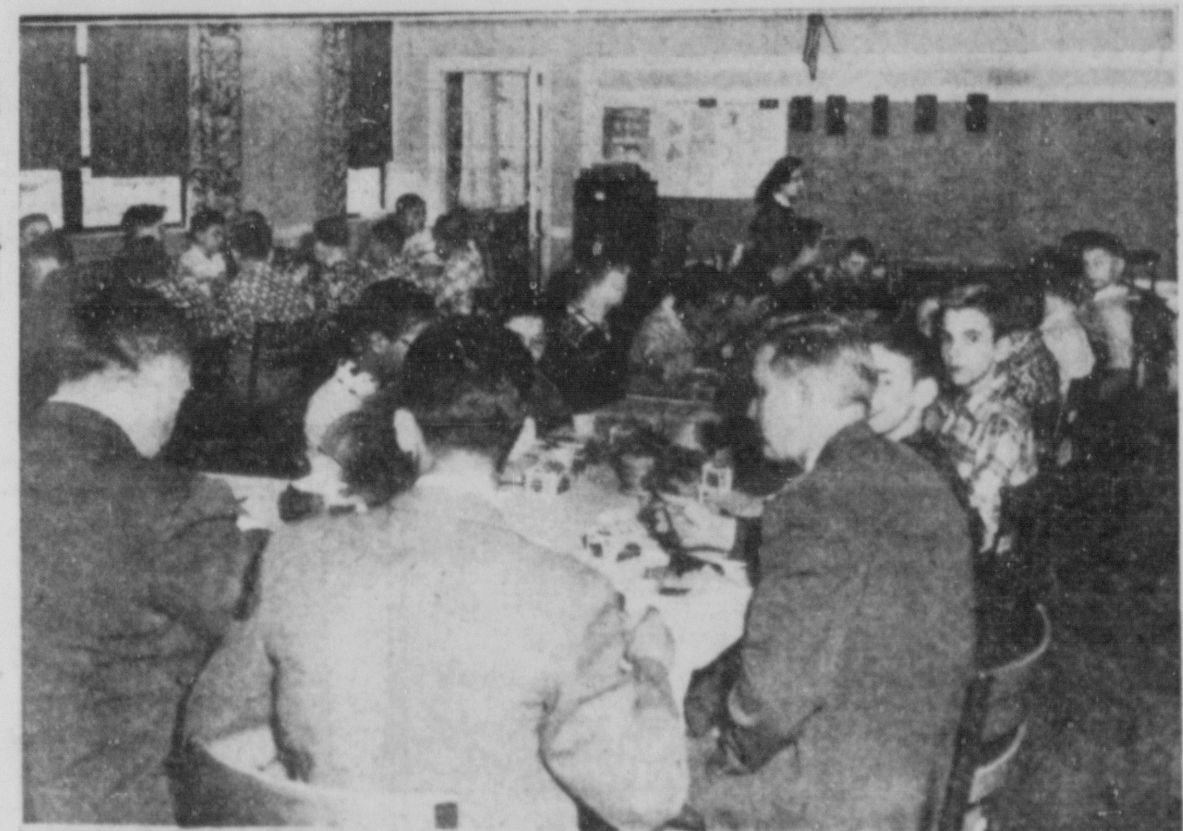

Yankees Edge Cardinals, 7-4

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 17 (AP)—An error by shortstop Alex Grammas led to three unearned runs for the New York Yankees in the eighth inning today. That enabled the American League to top the St. Louis Cardinals 7-4. The error was one of four Red-bird miscues.

With a 4-4 tie prevailing, Grammas let Andy Carey's soft roller skid through him, Bob Cerv scoring from second base. Paul LaPalme, the losing pitcher, then walked Mickey Mantle and Elston Howard doubled solidly to left to send in two more runs and clinch the game. Howard drove in three runs in the game and is batting .391 in seven games.

Senators Win, 6-4

ORLANDO, Fla., March 17 (AP)—Washington won its fourth straight exhibition game today, defeating Cincinnati, 6-4. Eddie Yost and Tom Umphlett blasted home runs for the Senators.

Dayton Moves Into Final With Duquesne

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—Duquesne and Dayton, the top favorites, made it a 2-D final in the National Intramural basketball tournament tonight, but not until Dayton had been carried into overtime by the unseeded but exciting Little St. Francis (Pa.) team.

Top-seeded Duquesne whipped Cincinnati 65-51 after Dayton had pulled out a 79-73 victory over St. Francis.

The Dukes and Dayton will meet for the championship Saturday night, with St. Francis and Cincinnati paired in a preliminary to decide third place.

Duquesne's victory came as an anti-climax after the opening thriller, which kept the crowd of 16,485, largest of the tournament, in an uproar. Second-seeded Dayton tied that one almost in the last second of regulation play, then pulled it out in the extra period despite a superb 43-point performance by Maurice Stokes of St. Francis.

The Dukes, poised and polished, had beaten fourth-seeded Cincinnati twice during the regular season and seemed confident they could do it again. They lost little time proving their point as Dick Ricketts and St. Green, their springy-legged stars, took command at the outset.

Duquesne led 36-22 at halftime and never was less than 10 points ahead during the second half. The Dukes went more than 11 minutes in the second half with nobody but Ricketts and Green getting any points.

In the opener lanky Johnny Horan sank two free throws with only a minute to go and substitute Ray Dieringer added two more for Dayton in the overtime.

Two more field goals followed those all-important free shots, but it was the free throws that made the big difference as Dayton's Flyers, trailing most of the way, tied the score on the last play in regulation time, then went on to win.

Stroudsburg Junior High Honors Cagers

FIFTY members of the American League, a division of the Stroudsburg Junior High School intra-mural basketball program, were honored at lunch yesterday. The affair took place in the high school home economics room.

Alfred W. Munson, high school principal, spoke to the group on the value of athletics, good sportsmanship and the lessons they learned while taking part in the intra-mural program this year.

T. Manning "Cap" Curtis, athletic director and founder of the intra-mural program, introduced Munson as the speaker.

The Owls were named the official circuit champions and Coach John Pyle was congratulated by all present.

Other team coaches were also luncheon guests.

Analomink Club To Hold Meeting

ANALOMINK — Analomink, an annual entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League, will hold a reorganizational meeting here at the home of Wayne Metzgar on Sunday, at 8 p.m.

Officers will be elected for the coming season and a manager will be named at the gathering. Metzgar revealed last night.

Barbers Bow From Tourney Play, 96-86

FREELAND — Frank's Barbers, carrying the East Stroudsburg banner, were eliminated from the Edwards Memorial Basketball Tournament here at the Freeland YMCA last night by Capece's Shoes, 96-86. It was the second tournament appearance for the Barbers and the winner's first.

Capece's contingent, operating out of Hazleton, used a strong showing in the second and third periods to capture the verdict.

The Hazleton club, shooting mostly from the outside, constructed a 72-55 advantage through the first three periods and then fought off a determined bid by the Barbers, led by Charley German and Ray Kaseman, outscored the winning quintet in the last 10 minutes, 29-24.

Capece's club held a slim 21-20 lead at the end of the opening round and increased it to 47-39 with a 26-19 bulge during the second stanza.

Capece's quintet, showing brilliant marksmanship from the outside, wrapped up the verdict with a 25-16 advantage in the third quarter.

German's 31 tallies and Kaseman's 21 weren't enough to turn the tide of battle, as Capece's Don Ledger came up with 28 and Ancharski picked up 20.

The winning team held a 44-35 advantage in field goals and converted eight of 17 charity tosses. The Barbers found the range of 16 of 28 free throws.

STROUDSBURG High's basketball team, didn't win any sort of championships during the past campaign, but it did take part in one of the most successful financial seasons since World War Two. Three games actually put the season over the top. The trio of battles on the W. Main St. court that drew capacity crowds were Stroudsburg clashes with Palmerston, Slatington and East Stroudsburg.

The Stroudsburg-Eastburg contest drew 709 paid admissions, which means there were probably over 800 people in the gymnasium, making it one of the biggest events ever to see the two boroughs play basketball. The Mountaineers took in $1,779.40 at the gate and paid out $1,357.96 for a profit of $421.44. While on the subject of finances it might be a good idea to point out that both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg go to all lengths to make their athletic teams the best equipped in the region.

In football alone both schools take a back seat to nobody in the equipment league. Although neither the Cavaliers nor Mountaineers have won any football crowns since World War Two, the two schools have done everything to make available the best protective equipment possible and have also taken great strides in making their respective grid machines among the best dressed in the Lehigh Valley and Lehigh-Northampton Leagues.

Ralph "Tiger" Jones, veteran middleweight fighter now training at Harry's Farm, area camp, made $1,200 more in his fight with Sugar Ray Robinson than in a recent clash with middleweight champion Carl "Bobo" Olson. Don't forget the car wash program being carried out by the Stroudsburg High Varsity "S" Club tomorrow. Members will call for and deliver your car if you so desire, or each person can drive their cars to the service station located on the corner of Main and Ninth St., where the washing will take place.

Horace Westbrook, interested in all types of sports, is getting together a special Stroudsburg PTA program for Monday, April 18. The show will include a panel discussion on sports and the manner they are conducted at the W. Main St. school. There will be several well known local personalities on the panel. The date was originally set aside as "Men's Night", at which all fathers, uncles and brothers are urged to attend the meeting. It is to be known as the Stroudsburg PTA Sports Night program, or a title somewhat similar.

The Varsity "E" Club is currently working on several new fund raising ideas, with at least one expected to take place next summer. One of Barrett High's chief athletic fans, Ed Bosman, is currently on the sick list. Bosman, mathematics teacher at Barrett, suffered a heart attack on Monday. This column is hopeful that Ed will enjoy a speedy recovery. The Tannersville entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League is having trouble procuring pitchers for the coming season.

Nino Valdes, listed as the number one heavyweight title contender, is completely recovered from a punctured ear drum. Is it true that John Pyle, band director at Stroudsburg High School, will receive a testimonial dinner as a reward for leading the Owls to the National League basketball championship in the Stroudsburg Junior High School intra-mural program? What ever happened to Numa Snyder's Notre Dame entry in the American League division of the same program?

Ronnie Davis, who recently finished his first season as basketball mentor at Tobyhanna Township High School, will also coach the school's baseball team this year. I believe the 1955 Monroe County League, baseball schedule is the first of its kind in the history of the circuit. One of the five entries in the league this season draws a bye on each day of action. The Monroe County Softball League is to be congratulated for forming a grievance committee—it should make solving problems an easier matter.

Officials of the Stroudsburg Little League will inspect the circuit's field tomorrow morning and will decide at that time whether or not certain changes will be made. The Pocono Little League is anxious to make its opening day program the biggest in history this season. Harvey "Hotsey" Bergman, regular forward for the Stroudsburg Pocono, an entry in the Pocono Mountains League, attended last night's semi-final round in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament, in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Monroe County League Announces Baseball Schedule

Five Schools Ready To Open Battle

KRESGEVILLE — The Monroe County League yesterday released its 1955 baseball schedule, the first of its kind in the circuit. Only five teams will campaign this season and on each date one of the entries will draw a bye.

The schedule was drawn up by Art Smith, baseball and basketball coach at Polk High and released by Harry T. Young, principal of the same school.

Barrett has decided to pass up baseball this season, but just for this one year, due to the fact that it has been unable to find someone to coach its diamond squad.

Otherwise the league features the same entries with Polk, Tobyhanna Township, Coalingha, Chestnut Hill and Pocono.

All games are scheduled to be played at 2 p. m.

The season will open on Tuesday, April 12 and close on Tuesday, May 17.

Games postponed for one or more reasons must be made up on the next clear day if at all possible. Otherwise they will be played on Friday, April 29 or Friday, May 20, dates set aside for make-up contests.

Chestnut Hill is the defending title holder in the circuit.

Thomas Ends Holdout Siege

By Joe Brandis

PITTSBURGH, March 17 (AP) — Outfielder Frank Thomas ended his holdout siege with the Pittsburgh Pirates today and signed for a reported $18,000.

That's $7,000 less than the 25-year-old outfielder asked for and $6,000 more than he received during the 1954 season.

Said Thomas:

"I'm perfectly satisfied with the terms. I'm only sorry the club and I had a misunderstanding. That's cleared up now and the contract is satisfactory to both."

"I misunderstood what Branch Rickey Jr. (the club's vice president) told me Feb. 12 I was under the impression the club was going to contact me so I sat tight."

"Branch Jr. wrote me a letter only a day ago and explained the mixup. I called him and then his father and got it straightened out."

Thomas, dressed in dungarees and a jacket, hurried over to the Pirates' Forbes Field offices for the signing after a 20 minute telephone conversation with Branch Sr., in Fort Myers, Fla.

Weighing only seven pounds over his 198 playing weight, the young outfielder said he will leave immediately by plane for the training site, adding:

"They tell me I've got to win back my job. Well, I'm ready. If they play me in spring training I know I'll be in the starting lineup on opening day."

"I feel great. I lost about 13 pounds the last three weeks of the 1954 season but I put it all back on. I'm raring to go."

Thomas, off to a great start the early part of 1954, finished the season with a .298 average and hit 23 home runs. He was tops on the club with 94 runs batted in. During the contract impasse he worked in a relative's hardware store.

Santee Fails To Impress In Mexico

By Ted Smith

MEXICO CITY, March 17 (AP) — Wes Santee, America's mile king, gave a disappointing performance in the 1,500 meter preliminaries today but javelin-thrower Bud Held and hurdler Jack Davis kept the "Star Spangled Banner" ringing for the United States in the Pan-American Games.

Santee, refusing to extend himself, loafed through the first heat of the qualifying trials for the metric mile and was nipped at the wire by Argentina's Juan Miranda, both time at a slow 4 minutes, 6.4 seconds. Santee qualified easily.

Santee's mile adversary in the U.S., Fred Dwyer, also fell far off his usual form and barely qualified by finishing fifth in the second heat, won by Filemon Camacho of Venezuela in 4:31.4.

The first five places in each heat qualified for the finals. Both Santee and Dwyer appeared affected by the mile and a half altitude. Bob McMullen, formerly of Occidental College, qualified by finishing fourth in Santee's heat in 4:15.7.

The metric mile is 120 yards less than the mile, which Santee has run in 4:00.2.

Dwyer's time was 4:31.8.

Franklin (Bud) Held, the world record holder in the javelin, won his specialty by tossing the spear 228 feet, 11 inches for a games record. The old Pan-American mark was 223-4 by Ricardo Herber of Argentina in 1951.

Held's world mark is 263 feet, 10 inches, made Aug. 8, 1953 at Pasadena, Calif.

Davis, off to a bad start, won the 110 meter hurdles in the comparatively slow time of 14.3 seconds.

Keith Gardner of Jamaica was off the mark like a bullet but Davis overtook him and won by two yards. Davis was clocked in :13.7 yesterday in a preliminary heat.

Davis' victory was the 11th for the United States in 14 track and field championships already completed in the men's division.

The United States' rowers made their debut on the picturesque Xochimilco Canal and sent Jack Kelly Jr. of Philadelphia, former world champion sculler, and Philadelphia's Vesper Club four with coxswain into the finals.

Kelly broke the 2:31.2-yard course record in beating Uruguay's Juan Rodriguez by a lap in 4 minutes, 28 seconds. This was four seconds better than the mark set a few minutes earlier by Argentina's Norberto Battaglia, who won his heat by five lengths.

The Vesper crew led all the way to beat Chile by three quarters of a length in 4:06.

Ladies Feature Four Matches

TWIN-BORO Ladies will see action at the Pocono Bowling Center today at 7 p. m. Schedule follows:

Alleys three and four—Johnnie's Inn vs. Jerry's.

Alleys five and six—Thomas Funeral Home vs. Bartonville Hotel.

Alleys seven and eight—Lawson Automotive vs. Marsh's Foundry.

San Francisco May Be Minus First Stringer In NCAA Tilt

KANSAS CITY, March 17 (AP) — The pre-tourney favoritism of top-ranked San Francisco wavered today. The Dons face possible loss of star forward Jerry Mullin in tomorrow night's opening round of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. basketball championships.

In the first game of the four-team playoff, defending champion LaSalle faces Big Ten champion Iowa. San Francisco goes against Colorado of the Big Seven.

There will be no national telecast of either tomorrow night's semifinals or Saturday night's championship game at Municipal Auditorium.

San Francisco Coach Phil Woolpert said Mullin who sprained his right ankle in Saturday's 57-66 shading of Oregon State is a doubtful starter against Colorado.

Commissioner Bert Bell of the NFL said today that it's every man for himself in the scramble for football talent.

"I've gone as far with those fellows as I can," said Bell, who obviously was nettled by raids in the past 24 hours which saw Gil Mains and Tom Dublin of the Detroit Lions and Don King of the Cleveland Browns go north of the border.

The NFL commissioner said he heard today about King, a lineman for the Browns, being grabbed by Ottawa.

"I immediately telephoned J. P. McCaffery, manager of Ottawa and asked him what the idea was. McCaffery told me, 'Oh Bert, he's only got an option.'"

"You know that's wrong," Bell said he told the Ottawa official. McCaffery then told Bell that Ottawa had to get some American players since the other Canadian teams were doing so, whereupon Bell told McCaffery:

"Okay, I've gone as far as I can with you fellows. From now on my teams are free to act as they please, except where legal agreements, such as that between Calgary and Washington, apply."

And to back up his word, Bell telephoned General Manager Nick Kerbaw of the Detroit club and told him he could have Gordon Malloy, University of Miami halfback.

Pirates Set In Four Spots

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 17

(AP) — Manager Fred Haney said today the Pittsburgh Pirates definitely are set at four positions.

He listed them as centerfield, shortstop, catching and "any place Sid Gordon plays—either leftfield or third base."

Frank Thomas probably will hold down the centerfield spot. Haney said, with Dick Groat at shortstop, Toby Atwell will be the No. 1 catcher, assisted by Nick Koback and Jack Shepard.

Haney said he also is pretty well set at second base. He said:

"If Gene Freese doesn't make it there, Dick Cole will. He's twice the player he was three seasons ago."

Department Of State To Recruit Aides

GREIG HENDERSON and Robert O. Blake of the United States Department of State will visit the campuses of four nearby colleges and universities late this month to present the new career opportunities in the foreign service of the United States.

Their appearances will be at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, March 22; Muhlenberg College and Cedarcrest College, Allentown, March 23; and Lafayette College, Easton, March 24.

The Department of State will conduct the first written examination under its new recruiting program in June. It hopes the program will bring approximately 300 new Foreign Service officers into the career corps this year.

The written exam will take one day and offer greater opportunities to individuals with specialized backgrounds. The written test will be given in 65 cities and the oral examination which follows will be held in regional centers. The exams are open to anyone between the ages of 20 and 31 who are American citizens of at least 10 years standing. If married, candidates must be married to an American citizen.

Starting salaries for successful candidates range from $4000 to $5000 per year depending upon the age and experience of the individual. Generous insurance and retirement benefits are granted as well as annual and sick leave.

This program follows recommendations by Secretary Dulles' Committee on Personnel calling for staffing virtually all officer positions in Washington and overseas with Foreign Service officers and for integrating Civil Service personnel now filling these positions into the Foreign Service Officer Corps.

There is an urgent need for new officers since most all professional vacancies will be filled from the

SGT. LAZO KARAMAS, 38, finds his family the best medicine for an ailing heart as he hugs his wife, Theresia, and son, Franklin, 5, in Fort Jay Hospital, Governors Island, New York. The career soldier and his Czech-born wife married in Germany six years ago. When he was transferred home last April, Theresia had to stay behind to await a visa. Karamas suffered a heart attack in February, and State Department, Army and Red Cross officials joined forces to reunite the family, which includes an infant daughter.

Rise In Lewd Literature Trade Noted

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—A sharp increase in the traffic in lewd and obscene literature was reported by Post Office Department officials today in appealing for help from both Congress and the public.

Postmaster Gen. Summerfield urged the public to cooperate in curbing the trade by "delivering to their local postmaster any material received through the mails which they consider obscene."

Summerfield reported a 73 per cent increase during the last six months in indecent mail cases handled by the department. The material included "risque snapshots, pornographic magazines and books, and lascivious slides, 'party' films, and records," he said.

A similar report was presented to a House Judiciary subcommittee by Abe M. Goff, Post Office Department solicitor, at a hearing on a series of antiobscenity bills.
